THE VOLUNTEERS.

If General Haines' brigade of volunteers, which is now on its way to Porto Rico, may be taken as a fair sample of Uncle Sam's citizen soldiery, the old gentleman has abundant reason for being proud of his boys, not only for the magnificent standard of physical manhood that seems to prevail in the ranks, but because of those nobler qualities that stamp them as gentlemen and valuable citizens of a great nation.

In spite of the fact that the men had been subjected to a diet that in many cases bordered on the starvation stage, there was no inclination on the part of the soldiers to make that an excuse for petty thievery and other breaches of the moral code. During their stay in the city an overwhelming majority of the men conducted themselves in an unexceptionable manner. Newport News stands ready to welcome Haines' brigade, collectively or individually, if they feel inclined to again visit the enterprising and progressive little city at the mouth of the James river.

The destination of Shafter's expedition was known everywhere before it left Florida. Miles' landing place was unknown even in Washington until the landing had been accomplished. Miles kept everybody guessing, and guessing wrongly, until he was ashore. That is what is called strategy. Savannah Morning News.

And properly, too. The commander of an army who advertises his plans stands a good chance for failing. Nothing but the incapacity of the Spaniards or that Providence which is supposed to watch over and protect fools kept the landing at Bahigra from being a slaughter pen for the Americans.

No one can impugn the motives of Miss Jessie Schley, who set out for Madrid for the purpose of inducing the Queen Regent of Spain to lend her influence to the peace movement, but the direct snub she received was the logical result of a foolish enterprise undertaken without due consideration. The only way to bring a lasting and satisfactory peace out of war is to allow one of the contending parties to be whipped into submission. Miss Schley meant well, but her visit was untimely and there was at no time even a hope for a successful issue of her mission.

If one may be permitted to judge by the remarks of the esteemed Mr. Sagasta, Spain wants peace, but she desires it in a private and unofficial manner.

We infer from Madrid dispatches that measure is no respecter of persons.

SITUATION SIMPLIFIED.

When the Old Man Learned the Facts He Was Not So Cruel.

"Did you say that young man is a painter?" inquired the old gentleman, who can be very stern on occasion. "Yes," replied his daughter. "Well, there is no need of prolonging the discussion. I'm a practical man, of course. I know that when your mother married me, I didn't have much wealth. I am willing to sit down and agree with you on the question of whether love is a matter of eternal affinity or mere propinquity. But for the purposes of this particular case, I am not going to admit anything beyond the proposition that when a man marries, the kind of business he is engaged in ought to be taken into consideration by the girl and her parents."

"You mustn't be hasty, father." "I'm not hasty. I'm willing to use all the time necessary to make it absolutely plain to you that I won't hear of your marrying the young man."

"You mean," she exclaimed indignantly, "that you can contemplate your own career and assume to look down on Walter, simply because he is in trade?"

"I thought you said he's a painter?" "He is."

"That's all I care to know." "But, father, you were a carpenter once. And I'm sure that a house and sign painter—"

"Is Walter a house and sign painter?" "Certainly."

"Then," Perhaps I have misjudged him. When you and he reach any definite program, tell him to call on me and we'll figure on how much it will cost to set him up in business for himself."

A Homesick Cat.

A homesick cat has excited the pity of many wealthy New London people. The animal's old household recently moved to Boston, and the pet being left behind refused to eat, and soon was reduced to a skeleton. The most tempting dishes were pushed under the feline nose with no effect. As a last resort some kindly interested people took the cat to Boston on a visit to its old family, where, with demonstrative joy, it eats voraciously and is rapidly getting fat again.

Half a Romance.—"He proposed to her on a postal card." "How absurd!" "Of course; but what made the Postoffice clerks angry was that she replied by letter, and now they don't know whether she accepted him or not."

Is the War Over?

Well we hope it is, but we know that summer and hot weather will be with us for some time to come and if you have not already availed yourself of the chance to get a good Detroit Jewel Gas Range you have missed one of your best friends and more, you have missed the comfort that can only be had from the use of gas fuel, which brings delight and happiness wherever it is in use. Talk is cheap you may say and a gas man must "gas," and who can blame him. He knows a good thing—he wants to push it along, and he is willing that his friends should share in the procession. Generous soul that he is, he gives his advice free. It is no trouble to sing the praises of gas for fuel and as for light, its beauty shines so he who runs may be impressed. Gas for fuel at $1.00 is the cheapest fuel if it is economically used. Are you economical? You are prudent and wise. Therefore get a gas range. We will tell you something next week about heating that will surprise you. Call No. 31 on either phone if you can not call. But come if you can.
